

Cookie Policy

1. Purpose.

APM Terminals uses functional, analytical and tracking cookies on its website www.apmterminals.com. This statement provides more details on cookies and other techniques used by us. We may change this statement from time to time. Therefore, we would advise you to regularly check our website to find out whether any changes have been made to this statement.

2. What are cookies

Our websites use cookies. A cookie is a small text file, which is stored on your computer in order to recognize your computer at recurring visits. The cookie may transmit information via your browser with a purpose of authenticating or identifying the computer (via e.g. the IP address) or the user. Cookies may contain information such as registration data and user preferences. When a server receives a request from a computer which stores a cookie from the website, the server is able to use the information stored in the cookie in combination with the information stored on the server. A cookie cannot collect information from your computer and cannot carry any virus or other damaging files.

Cookies may be 'persistent' cookies or 'session' cookies. Cookies that are persistent will be stored by a web browser and will remain valid until its set expiry date (unless the cookie is deleted by the user before the expiry date). A session cookie will expire at the end of a session, in other words, when the web browser is closed.

3. How we use cookies

We use cookies to recognize a device when you visit our website, to track which pages you visit on our website, to improve the usability of our website, to improve the security of the website, to personalize the website and to validate authenticated user sessions. We use both session and persistent cookies on our website.

Please note that the information that is collected by cookies is not used by us to identify you, but information processed by cookies may contain information that could be qualified as personal data. For more information on how we use your personal data, please find our privacy policy.

The cookies used by us can be classified in the following categories: necessary and non-necessary cookies.
